

A Tree is a Plant

by Clyde Robert Bulla

illustrated by Stacey Schuett

pgs. 7-8

This apple came from a seed. The seed was small. It grew inside an apple. Have you ever seen an apple seed? Ask an adult to help you cut an apple in two. The seeds are in the center. They look like this.

Most apple trees come from seeds that are planted. Sometimes an apple tree grows from a seed that's falls to the ground. The wind blows leaves over the seed. The wind blows soil over the seed.
